1. Subdivision and Older Core Homes

Subdivision homes

For Treetops, Honey Hill, Emerald Crossing and other newer resales, explain the actual home and compare complete current alternatives.

[ ] Compare current builder/resale alternatives on the complete terms, not only a builder's base price.

[ ] List actual included finishes and features such as fencing, window coverings or a completed basement.

[ ] Choose presentation and repairs for the home's condition, likely questions, budget and schedule.

[ ] Explain relevant routes and Honda's local manufacturing presence without promising demand or travel time.

[ ] Use professional photography and Video Narrated VR Animated Online Showings to explain the home accurately.

Older Alliston core homes

Make the character, layout, available system history and unresolved questions clear. Discuss assessment when it could help.

[ ] Gather roof, heating/cooling, electrical and plumbing information where available.

[ ] Discuss a pre-listing inspection or specialist assessment when it could resolve a material question.

[ ] Show character features and room function with accurate descriptions and a clear layout.

[ ] Gather available renovation permits and inspection records; identify missing information for follow-up.

[ ] Choose lighting and photography for actual conditions, privacy, weather and safe access.

2. Briar Hill and Rural Properties

Briar Hill adult-lifestyle homes

Use the actual ownership and provider records. Avoid assuming maintenance-free living, universal age rules or automatic amenity transfers.

[ ] Discuss suitable exposure through targeted channels including AdultCommunities.ca.

[ ] Confirm actual maintenance responsibilities and current amenity access, eligibility and charges.

[ ] Gather applicable condominium/ownership documents, fee schedules and provider rules.

[ ] Describe real layout and accessibility features without assuming suitability for every buyer.

[ ] Compare relevant Briar Hill resales and current alternatives rather than a generic price or timing rule.

Rural properties around Alliston

[ ] Gather available septic service/assessment records, well and water information, and surveys.

[ ] Confirm zoning, proposed uses, access and relevant conservation questions with the appropriate authority.

[ ] Share factual internet and utility information with its source and limits.

[ ] Arrange safe, permitted access to outbuildings and viewing areas; use qualified help where needed.

[ ] Describe the actual usable land, setting and features; maps and fences do not establish legal boundaries.

Water and safe access

Public Health Ontario tests bacterial indicators, not chemical safety or water supply. Discuss sampling, results and other testing with the public health unit or relevant professional. Do not enter unsafe spaces or operate unfamiliar equipment to complete this checklist.

3. Pricing and Marketing Launch

Pricing strategy for speed

Use the actual property, relevant sales and current competition. The asking price is a strategy, not a guarantee of value, multiple offers or timing.

[ ] Review relevant sold comparisons and the current listings competing for the same buyer.

[ ] Discuss a property-specific value range and asking strategy; do not use a universal percentage band.

[ ] Compare asking options and their risks without assuming an under-market price will produce multiple offers.

[ ] Use online estimates as discussion inputs, with their data and property limitations identified.

[ ] Set review points using inquiries, showings, feedback, offers and new competition together.

Marketing launch checklist

[ ] Arrange professional photography showing the actual property's useful features.

[ ] Prepare a Video Narrated VR Animated Online Showing that explains the layout and benefits.

[ ] Publish accurate descriptions, available floor plans and answers to likely property questions.

[ ] Agree local and out-of-area distribution relevant to the actual home; include useful Honda commute context.

[ ] Review engagement alongside showing feedback and offers; website traffic does not prove buyer funding.

Agree the review plan

What will we review?	Who / when?
Inquiries, showings and repeated questions
New competing listings and relevant sales
Asking strategy or presentation changes

4. Preparation Sequence and Avoidable Delays

A flexible preparation sequence

Agree the order and schedule for the actual home. Tasks can overlap; conditions, permissions, work availability and your next move can change the plan.

Stage	Readiness check
Evaluation and strategy	Discuss value, competition, timing, next-property constraints and preparation priorities.
Targeted preparation	Investigate condition concerns and choose suitable work, cleaning and presentation. Confirm quotes, permissions and availability.
Photography and records	Prepare the home for safe, accurate photography and online presentation; organize available property information.
Marketing launch	Agree launch readiness, distribution, showing access, responsibilities and review points. Tasks can overlap; there is no required 14-day schedule.

Common causes of delay

Issue to review	Practical response
Asking position does not fit the evidence	Review relevant sales and current alternatives; choose a change from evidence rather than an automatic reduction.
Presentation leaves questions unanswered	Make room function clear and investigate odour, moisture or condition concerns rather than masking them.
Records or permissions are unclear	Gather available material, identify gaps and agree suitable professional follow-up.
Showings are difficult to arrange	Agree practical access, privacy, pets and attendance arrangements; do not compromise safety.
Condition concerns remain unresolved	Obtain appropriate assessment and consider repair, disclosure, price and offer terms with professional advice.
Marketing or follow-up misses the property’s strengths	Explain actual features clearly and review the audience, distribution, inquiries and feedback.

5. Documents for Buyer Questions and Conditions

Gather what applies to the actual property

Not every record is available or required for every sale. Identify gaps and agree suitable follow-up with the agent, lawyer, lender, manager or relevant professional. Do not share sensitive financial or personal material publicly.

[ ] Survey or reference plan, if available; seek professional review of uncertain boundaries or access.

[ ] Property-tax bill and assessment notice.

[ ] Available utility and service records, with dates and context.

[ ] Renovation permits and inspection records, where available.

[ ] Relevant warranties and equipment information.

[ ] Well, water and septic records where applicable; discuss suitable further assessment.

[ ] Status, financial and governing documents for applicable condominium ownership.

[ ] Briar Hill fee, maintenance, provider and amenity information where applicable.

[ ] Mortgage payout and applicable lender questions; share sensitive records through the appropriate process.

Condominium or freehold?

A townhouse style alone does not establish condominium ownership. For applicable condominium ownership, discuss status-certificate and supporting-document timing with the lawyer or manager. Confirm fees, maintenance, rules and amenity arrangements from the actual records.

6. Your Next Steps

[ ] Request a free property-specific home evaluation.

[ ] Book a call or Zoom with Kevin to discuss timing, moving plans and constraints.

[ ] Use the checklists to organize preparation and available records.

[ ] Review the dated New Tecumseth market report alongside relevant current competition.

[ ] Discuss which improvements or information would help most, who will arrange them and when to review progress.
