Sandown Hillside, Newcastle and Doomben · Results and grades

Week 1, now graded. Just a bit of fun from the club. We're taking an educated risk.

ENTERTAINMENT ONLY · NOT ADVICE · PLANNED BETS ONLY

Official, at race time.
Sandown Hillside · Heavy 8, then Soft 7 after race 5 · rail true
Newcastle · Good 4 · rail true · fine
Doomben · Soft 7, then Soft 6 after race 5 · rail true · overcast

THE DAY'S GRADE

9 planned win bets · 3 won, 3 placed, 3 lost · 86 units on, 248 back · +162 units

The units look tidy, and that is mostly Natural Fling doing the heavy lifting, plus two other winners that got up. Three more ran into the places, which is lovely for the photo and useless for a win ticket. The model does not predict winners. It reviews every result and gets refined, which is a polite way of saying we looked at the long shots, winced a bit, and will keep the units for the 3-star Pak Punting bets from here. One Saturday is not a sample.

THE MODEL'S PICKS

The model's 2 and 3-star shortlist, now graded. No units on this list.

THE MODEL'S PICK

Natural Fling

PAK PUNTING TOTAL 86 on 248 back

+162 units

Week 1 had one 3-star Pak Punting bet, Natural Fling, plus eight other planned win bets from the old value list. From here the club puts units on 3-star Pak Punting bets only. A bonus ticket on Lady Catalina is not in these figures.

PUNT CLUB FACT

The barrier in the book isn't always the one they jump from. If a horse comes out, every runner drawn outside it moves one closer to the rail. The VRC says that's why some barrier hoodoos are statistical quirks, not curses.
