Why blogs still work

Blogs help people find you before they're ready to buy. They also help Google and AI tools see you as an expert.

Today, lots of people ask questions in ChatGPT, Google's AI answers, and other AI tools. These tools pull answers from helpful pages. A good blog post that answers a real question can get you mentioned.

But only if it's really helpful. Thin, boring posts don't work anymore.

Words to know

Word	What it means
SEO	Search Engine Optimization: doing things so Google shows you more.
Map Pack	The 3 businesses on the map at the top of a local Google search.
Service page	A page about ONE thing you do.
Backlink	A link from another website to yours. Like a vote of trust.
AI search	Tools like ChatGPT, Gemini, Perplexity, and Google's AI answers.
Schema	Hidden code that labels your info for computers.
Search intent	Why someone is searching: to learn, to compare, or to buy.
Outline	The list of headings you plan before you write.

How to pick which blogs to write first

Start with these 3 groups. They bring the most leads:

1. Cost questions ("How much does...")
2. Problem questions ("Why does..." / "What should I do if...")

3. Compare questions ("X vs. Y" / "How to choose...")

Then add local and seasonal posts.

The simple blog template

Use this every time:

1. Title: The question people ask (use the city if it fits).
2. Quick answer: Answer the question in the first 2 to 3 sentences. This is what AI tools grab.
3. The details: Explain more with headings and short paragraphs.
4. A table or list: Prices, steps, pros and cons. Easy to skim.
5. Local info: Mention Katy and nearby areas when it makes sense.
6. Your experience: Share what you see every day. This is the part AI can't fake.
7. FAQ: 3 to 5 short questions and answers.
8. Next step: Link to your matching service page and say how to reach you.

> Tip: Every blog should link to at least one service page. The blog brings people in. The service page turns them into patients.

How often to post

Your time	Plan
Very busy	1 great post a month
Some time	2 posts a month
Growing fast	1 post a week

One great post beats four lazy ones.

Make it AI-friendly

- Put a short, direct answer at the top
- Use the exact question as a heading
- Add real numbers (prices, times, steps) when you can
- Add an author box: who wrote it and why they know this
- Update old posts every year with new info
- Don't stuff keywords. Write for people.

Checklist for each blog

- ☐ Title is a real question or topic people search
- ☐ Quick answer in the first 2 to 3 sentences
- ☐ Headings that are easy to skim
- ☐ At least one list or table
- ☐ Your own experience or examples
- ☐ Link to a service page
- ☐ Author name and short bio
- ☐ A real photo
- ☐ FAQ section
- ☐ Clear next step

Common questions

Can I use AI to write my blogs?

AI can help with outlines and first drafts. But you must add your real experience, check every fact, and make it sound like you. Pure AI copy-paste posts don't do well.

How long should a blog post be?

Long enough to fully answer the question. Usually 800 to 1,500 words. Short is fine if the answer is short.

How long until a blog ranks?

Often 2 to 6 months. Some never rank, and that's OK. Keep the ones that work updated.
